

BenePortal Plus Disclaimer

This material is intended to provide general information about evolving topics and does not constitute legal, tax or accounting advice. The information featured on this site may be used for general reference only. The posted materials are from sources and materials believed to be reliable and accurate, however we make no representations or warranties as to the accuracy of the information and accept no responsibility or liability for any error, omission or inaccuracy in such information. CSB does not assume responsibility for any updates to the posted content that might become necessary as a result of any relevant regulatory developments or changes in applicable law. Federal and state laws do change and, as a result, the featured information may not comply with current requirements. We strongly recommend consulting an attorney or HR specialist for assistance with customizing any forms, policies, or guidance. Any links that have been provided as an additional source of forms or guidelines are also for general information purposes and cannot be guaranteed for accuracy or compliance with any particular law or requirement. A plan sponsor and participating employers, bear sole responsibility for the maintenance of their benefit programs in compliance with existing tax and federal and state benefits laws and future changes, for meeting all reporting and disclosure requirements imposed by applicable law, for the daily administration of their plan, and for maintaining the complaint status of their plan in form and in operation.